

Handwritten text in a medieval script, possibly Latin or Old French, consisting of approximately 15 lines. The text is written in dark ink on aged, slightly stained paper. The script is a cursive hand with some decorative flourishes. The lines are roughly horizontal but follow the curve of the page.

Handwritten text in a medieval script, continuing from the previous block. It consists of approximately 10 lines. The ink is dark, and the paper shows signs of age and wear. The script is consistent with the first block.

Handwritten text in a medieval script, the final block on the page. It consists of approximately 10 lines. The text ends with a large, decorative initial letter, possibly a 'P' or 'S', which is partially obscured by a large scribble or correction. The paper is heavily aged and shows significant staining and foxing.

