

Handwritten text, likely bleed-through from the reverse side of the page. The text is faint and difficult to decipher but appears to contain several lines of script.

Handwritten notes or a list on the right edge of the page, written vertically. The text is partially obscured by the binding and includes words such as 'ma', 'z', and 'h'.

