

Faint, illegible handwritten text in a cursive script, likely from the 17th or 18th century. The ink is very light and the paper is aged and yellowed.

Large block of extremely faint handwritten text, possibly a signature or a long letter. The script is cursive and difficult to decipher due to fading and bleed-through from the reverse side of the page.

Additional faint handwritten text at the bottom of the page, including what appears to be a date or a short phrase, though it is mostly illegible.

