

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a historical document or letter. The text is written in dark ink on aged, slightly stained paper. It appears to be a formal or official communication, possibly a decree or a report, given the structured nature of the lines and the presence of a signature block below.

A signature block featuring a royal coat of arms (a crown above a shield with a cross) and a large, ornate signature in cursive script. The signature is highly stylized and characteristic of 17th-century handwriting.

Additional handwritten text in cursive script, continuing the document's content. The text is dense and fills the lower half of the page. There is a small, irregular brown stain on the paper near the center of this section.

