

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a legal or administrative document. The text is written on aged, slightly stained paper and is organized into approximately 20 lines. The script is dense and characteristic of the early modern period. At the top of the page, there are several horizontal lines that appear to be part of a signature or a decorative header. The text itself is mostly illegible due to the cursive style and fading, but some words like 'Mandado' and 'que' are discernible. The document concludes with a large, decorative flourish at the bottom left.

