

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a historical document or letter. The text is written on aged, yellowed paper and is organized into several lines, some of which are underlined. The script is dense and characteristic of the late 15th or early 16th century. The text appears to be a formal address or a significant declaration, possibly related to a royal or ecclesiastical matter. The final line of the text is followed by a large, stylized flourish or signature mark.

