The first of these is the fact that the government has been unable to maintain a stable exchange rate since the introduction of the new currency. This has led to a loss of confidence in the government and a consequent increase in inflation. The second problem is the fact that the government has been unable to raise sufficient revenue to cover its expenses.
 This has led to a large budget deficit and a consequent increase in public debt. The third problem is the fact that the government has been unable to implement effective economic reforms. This has led to a stagnating economy and a high level of unemployment.
 These three problems are the main reasons for the current economic crisis in the country.
