

Yuntam

Handwritten header or title, possibly containing a date or reference number.

Main body of handwritten text, consisting of several lines of dense script, possibly a letter or legal document.

A distinct section of handwritten text, possibly a signature or a specific clause, written in a larger, more stylized hand.

Lower section of handwritten text, appearing as a continuation or a separate note, with some lines being more legible than others.

