

Handwritten text, likely bleed-through from the reverse side of the page. The text is mirrored and difficult to decipher due to its orientation and fading.

Handwritten text, possibly a signature or a specific heading, located in the middle of the page.

