

Handwritten marginal notes on the left side of the page, including various numbers and short phrases.

Main handwritten text on the page, appearing to be a historical document or legal record, written in a cursive script. The text is dense and spans the majority of the page width.

