

Manuscript text in a cursive script, likely a historical document or legal record. The text is written in a dark ink on aged, slightly stained paper. It begins with a large initial 'M' and contains several lines of dense handwriting. The script is characteristic of the late 15th or early 16th century.

Manuscript text in a cursive script, continuing from the previous page. The text is written in a dark ink on aged, slightly stained paper. It begins with a large initial 'S' and contains several lines of dense handwriting. The script is characteristic of the late 15th or early 16th century.

