

Handwritten text at the top of the page, possibly a title or header, written in a cursive script.

Main body of handwritten text in cursive script, consisting of several lines of text that are difficult to decipher due to fading and bleed-through.

