

Faint, illegible handwritten text in a cursive script, possibly a list or account book. The text is mirrored across the page, suggesting bleed-through from the reverse side. Some words are difficult to decipher but appear to include names and numbers.

