

Large decorative calligraphic flourishes at the top of the page, including a prominent '+' sign and a large, stylized '2'.

Main body of the document, written in a dense, cursive medieval script. The text is organized into several columns and contains numerous lines of dense text, including what appears to be a list or inventory of items and their prices or values.

