

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a historical document or letter. The text is written in dark ink on aged, yellowed paper. It appears to be a formal or official communication, possibly a decree or a report, given the structured nature of the lines and the use of some capital letters. The script is dense and fills most of the upper half of the page.

Handwritten text in a cursive script, continuing from the upper section. This section is more fragmented and less dense than the one above, with several lines that are partially obscured or faded. The ink is lighter and the paper shows more signs of age and wear. The text seems to be a continuation of the same document or a separate entry.
