

Handwritten text in a historical script, likely Castilian or Spanish, written in dark ink. The text is arranged in several lines across the top of the page. Some words are underlined, and there are decorative flourishes and a large initial letter 'C' on the right side.

A circular stamp or seal, possibly a personal or official mark, located in the middle-left section of the page. It contains some illegible text or a signature.

Handwritten text in a historical script, likely Castilian or Spanish, written in dark ink. This section is located in the lower half of the page and contains several lines of text, some of which are underlined.

