

Handwritten text in a medieval script, possibly Gothic or similar, covering the majority of the page. The text is dense and appears to be a formal document or record.

