

Handwritten text in a medieval script, likely Latin or Old English, arranged in approximately 15 horizontal lines. The text is written in a dark ink on aged, slightly yellowed parchment. The script is a dense, cursive hand with many loops and flourishes. The lines are roughly parallel but show some variation in spacing and alignment. The text appears to be a legal or administrative document, possibly a charter or a record of a court case, given the use of words like 'personae' and 'personae' which are visible in some of the lines. The overall appearance is that of a well-preserved but clearly aged manuscript page.

