

Handwritten text in a medieval script, likely a charter or legal document, spanning the top half of the page. The text is dense and written in a cursive style. It begins with a large initial letter 'S' and contains several lines of text with some red ink used for initials or rubrics. The text is partially obscured by the binding of the book on the left.

A second block of handwritten text, continuing the document. It features a prominent initial 'P' and is written in the same cursive script as the first block. The text is organized into several lines, with some words appearing to be in red ink. The handwriting is consistent throughout this section.

The final block of handwritten text at the bottom of the page. It starts with a large initial 'P' and continues with several lines of text. The script remains consistent with the rest of the document. In the bottom right corner, there is a small circular seal or stamp, possibly a library or ownership mark, which is partially cut off by the edge of the page.
