

Handwritten text in a medieval script, likely a Latin manuscript. The text is written in a cursive hand with many ligatures and is organized into approximately 15 horizontal lines. The ink is dark brown on aged, slightly discolored parchment. The script is characteristic of the 12th or 13th century.

Below the main body of text, there is a large, ornate initial 'D' that begins a new section. This section contains several lines of text, including the words 'Salomone' and 'deus'. The text is written in the same cursive hand as the main body. The bottom of the page features elaborate, swirling penwork flourishes that extend across the width of the text block.

