

Handwritten musical notation in a medieval script, likely Gothic or similar, visible along the left edge of the page. The notation includes various symbols, including what appear to be neumes and possibly some text, though it is partially cut off.

