

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a historical document or letter. The text is written in dark ink on aged, slightly stained paper. It consists of approximately 18 lines of text, with some lines starting with large, decorative initials. The script is dense and characteristic of the late 15th or early 16th century. The text is mostly illegible due to the cursive style and fading, but some words like "Anno", "die", "mense", and "loco" are discernible. The document appears to be a formal record or a legal instrument.

Handwritten signature and text at the bottom of the page. The signature is large and highly stylized, featuring a prominent loop and a long, sweeping tail. To the right of the signature, there is a block of text, possibly a name or title, written in a similar cursive hand. The text is partially obscured by the signature's flourish.

