

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely from the adjacent page, is visible along the right edge. The text is partially obscured by the binding and the edge of the page shown.

