

Don't know what this is, but it appears to be a handwritten document in a medieval or early modern script. The text is written in a cursive hand, possibly a form of Gothic or a related script, and is arranged in approximately 25 lines. The ink is dark brown or black, and the paper shows signs of age, including yellowing and some staining. The text is mostly illegible due to the cursive nature of the script and the fading of the ink. There are some recognizable words and phrases, such as "Don't know", "what", "this", "is", "but", "it", "appears", "to", "be", "a", "handwritten", "document", "in", "a", "medieval", "or", "early", "modern", "script". The document is written on a single page, and there is a small circular stamp or seal in the bottom right corner.

