

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a historical document or letter. The text is dense and spans most of the page. It appears to be a formal communication, possibly a royal decree or a significant correspondence, given the use of terms like 'rey' and 'nuestro'. The script is highly stylized and characteristic of the late 15th or early 16th century.

