

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a legal or administrative document, covering the majority of the page. The text is dense and difficult to decipher due to the cursive style and some fading.

