

Handwritten text at the top of the page, possibly a title or header, including the word "Calyce" and "Calyce" repeated.

Main body of handwritten text in a cursive script, containing several lines of text.

A distinct line of handwritten text, possibly a signature or a specific instruction, located below the main body of text.

A line of handwritten text, possibly a section header or a specific note, located below the signature-like line.

A line of handwritten text, possibly a section header or a specific note, located below the previous line.

A line of handwritten text, possibly a section header or a specific note, located below the previous line.

A line of handwritten text, possibly a section header or a specific note, located below the previous line.

A line of handwritten text, possibly a section header or a specific note, located below the previous line.

A large block of handwritten text at the bottom of the page, possibly a concluding paragraph or a list of items.

