

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a historical record or account. The text is written on aged, stained paper and includes several lines of dense handwriting.

Handwritten notes on the left margin, including the words "Hier ist die" and "felige".

Handwritten text in the middle section, continuing the narrative or record. It features several lines of cursive script with some underlining.

Handwritten text in the bottom section, concluding the main body of the document. The handwriting is consistent with the other sections.

