

Handwritten text at the top of the page, partially obscured by a large white tear. The script is a cursive hand from the late 15th or early 16th century.

Handwritten text in the middle section, also partially obscured by a large white tear. The text appears to be a continuation of the previous section.

Handwritten text in the lower middle section, partially obscured by a large white tear. The script remains consistent with the rest of the document.

Handwritten text in the lower section, partially obscured by a large white tear. The text is dense and fills most of the available space.

Handwritten text at the bottom of the page, partially obscured by a large white tear. The text concludes the visible portion of the document.

egen
de
efren

obceat

stien
in die
Compomble
my rmbles

