

Handwritten text in Old English script, likely a legal or administrative document. The text is written in a dense, cursive hand and spans most of the page. It appears to be a record of a transaction or agreement, possibly involving land or property, as suggested by the words "land" and "tenure" which are visible in some of the lines. The text is organized into several paragraphs, with some lines starting with a large initial letter, possibly "I" or "H".

Handwritten text in Old English script, continuing from the main body of the document. It is written in the same cursive hand and appears to be a concluding section or a separate entry. The text is less dense than the main body and ends with a large, decorative initial letter, possibly "I" or "H".

