

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a historical document or letter. The text is written in dark ink on aged, stained, and heavily damaged paper. The script is dense and difficult to decipher due to the damage and fading. The first line appears to read 'Je recey par le...'. The text continues in several lines, with some words being underlined. The paper has irregular, jagged edges and significant water damage, particularly on the left side.

Continuation of handwritten text in the same cursive script, located in the lower portion of the document. The text is also underlined and difficult to read due to the paper's condition. The final lines of the document are partially obscured by a large tear at the bottom center. A small, circular red wax seal or stamp is visible in the bottom right corner.