

[Faint, mostly illegible handwritten text in a cursive script, possibly from the 17th or 18th century. The text is scattered across the upper half of the page and is significantly obscured by large white tears and stains.]

[A single line of handwritten text, possibly a signature or a specific name, written in the same cursive script. It is located in the lower-left quadrant of the page.]

