

Handwritten text at the top of the page, possibly a title or header.

Main body of handwritten text, appearing to be a list or a series of entries, possibly in a medieval script.

Second section of handwritten text, continuing the list or entries.

Large section of handwritten text at the bottom of the page, possibly a concluding section or a separate entry.

