

The first of these is the fact that the system of government in England is a mixture of monarchy and democracy.
 The second is that the power of the crown is limited by the laws of the country. The third is that the rights of the people are protected by the laws of the country. The fourth is that the laws of the country are made by the people's representatives.
 The fifth is that the laws of the country are enforced by the courts of law. The sixth is that the laws of the country are the same for all people. The seventh is that the laws of the country are the same for all people.
