

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a historical document or manuscript. The text is written on aged, yellowed paper and is partially obscured by a large, irregular tear running vertically down the center. The visible portions of the text include several lines of dense handwriting, with some words appearing to be "Anno", "die", "mensis", and "horae". The script is highly stylized and characteristic of the late 16th or early 17th century.

Handwritten text in a cursive script, continuing from the top section. The text is written on aged, yellowed paper and is partially obscured by a large, irregular tear running vertically down the center. The visible portions of the text include several lines of dense handwriting, with some words appearing to be "die", "mensis", and "horae". The script is highly stylized and characteristic of the late 16th or early 17th century.

