

1111

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a list or account, with some lines appearing to be crossed out or heavily faded.

Main body of handwritten text in a cursive script, organized into several columns or sections, possibly representing a ledger or inventory.

Final section of handwritten text at the bottom of the page, including what appears to be a signature or a concluding statement.

