

de mance dno qre sub ordi reprob ad sequens

Handwritten text in a dense cursive script, likely a medieval manuscript or legal document. The text is highly stylized and difficult to decipher due to the tight lettering and frequent ligatures.

ae yq

Wist
mausun

Handwritten text block containing several lines of script, possibly a signature or a specific section of the document.

A large section of dense, handwritten text in cursive script, occupying the middle of the page. The text is continuous and appears to be a main body of the document.

Handwritten text at the bottom of the page, including what appears to be a signature or a concluding section. The script is consistent with the rest of the document.

