

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a historical document or letter. The text is written in a dark ink on aged, slightly yellowed paper. It appears to be a formal communication, possibly a royal decree or a letter from a high-ranking official. The script is dense and fills most of the page. There are some faint markings and what might be a signature or seal at the bottom of the main block of text.

Handwritten text at the bottom of the page, possibly a continuation of the main text or a separate note. It is written in the same cursive script as the main block. There is a checkmark-like symbol to the right of the text.

