

The manuscript contains dense handwritten text in a cursive script, likely from the 17th or 18th century. The text is organized into several distinct sections, separated by vertical lines and horizontal headings. The headings, written in a larger and more formal hand, include:

- De... (top left)
- De... (bottom left)

The main body of text consists of numerous lines of script, which appear to be a detailed account or a list of items. The ink is dark and the paper shows signs of age, with some fading and staining. The overall layout is that of a formal document or a ledger.
