

Handwritten text, likely bleed-through from the reverse side of the page. The text is mirrored and difficult to decipher but appears to contain several lines of a letter or document.

Handwritten text, possibly a signature or a specific section of the document. It includes a large, stylized signature that appears to be "J. J. J." or similar.

Handwritten text at the bottom of the page, including a large signature that reads "J. J. J." and other illegible text.

