

The first part of the document discusses the jurisdiction of the King's High Court of Chancery, particularly in relation to the sale of lands and the enforcement of writs. It mentions the King's writ of ad quod damnum and the writ of ad quod reddendum, and notes that the King's High Court has jurisdiction over these matters. The text also refers to the King's writ of ad quod damnum and the writ of ad quod reddendum, and notes that the King's High Court has jurisdiction over these matters.

& Ant. f. 100. Ant. f. 100. Ant. f. 100. Ant. f. 100.

Antem
 mignebrat

