

The first part of the book is a history of the city of London from its foundation to the present time. It is written in a plain and simple style, and contains many interesting particulars of the city's growth and improvement. The author has made use of many ancient records and manuscripts, and has been very diligent in his researches.
 The second part of the book is a description of the city's buildings, streets, and public works. It is written in a more descriptive style, and contains many interesting particulars of the city's architecture and improvements. The author has made use of many ancient records and manuscripts, and has been very diligent in his researches.

The third part of the book is a history of the city's government and laws. It is written in a plain and simple style, and contains many interesting particulars of the city's growth and improvement. The author has made use of many ancient records and manuscripts, and has been very diligent in his researches. The fourth part of the book is a history of the city's trade and commerce. It is written in a plain and simple style, and
 contains many interesting particulars of
 the city's growth and improvement. The
 author has made use of many ancient
 records and manuscripts, and has been very diligent in his researches.

