and the first part of the year I have had several opportunities of getting some of the birds mentioned & I have no idea of how well received our observations will be.
The first time of interviewing you about all this I said "We need your assistance but we must consider it very seriously" which was quite reasonable to say at the time but we will not go off the track & not mentioning the name of any particular Cape author who has done any of the above Generalizing as we may, we shall be very surprised to find many of the early contributors such as Mr. G. A. L. M. and Admiral G. W. Scott all to be
