the first time I have seen a specimen of this species. It is a small bird, about 10 cm. long, with a slender body, long wings, and a long tail. The plumage is dark brown above, with some lighter spots on the wings and tail. The underparts are white, with some brownish patches on the breast and belly. The bill is long and slightly curved, and the legs are strong and black. The eyes are large and black. The voice is a sharp, clear 'tink' or 'tink-tink'. The habitat is likely to be open woodland or scrubland.
