

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a list or index, running vertically down the left margin. The text is mostly illegible due to fading and bleed-through from the reverse side of the page.

