

Handwritten text in a historical script, likely a royal decree or legal document. The text is dense and covers most of the page's width. It begins with 'Noy... de... de...' and continues with several lines of text. The script is cursive and somewhat difficult to decipher due to its age and style. There are some faint markings on the left side of the page, possibly from the reverse side or another document.

Concedi...

Handwritten text, possibly a continuation of the document or a separate entry. It starts with 'De... de... de...' and continues with several lines of text. The script is similar to the one above. There are some faint markings on the left side of the page, possibly from the reverse side or another document.

