

Handwritten text, likely bleed-through from the reverse side of the page. The text is mirrored and difficult to decipher but appears to contain several lines of cursive script.

Handwritten text, possibly a signature or a date, located in the upper middle section of the page. It is also mirrored and difficult to read.

