

The most important part of the document is the first section which contains the main principles of the document. The second section contains the details of the document. The third
section contains the
conclusions of the document. The fourth
section contains the
recommendations of the document. The fifth
section contains the
concluding remarks of the document.

Prepared by
The Secretary
of the Committee on the Subject
of
the Document
No. 100
of 1900

