

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a historical document or letter. The text is written in a dark ink on aged, yellowish paper. A large, irregular white hole is present in the center of the page, obscuring several lines of text. The handwriting is dense and characteristic of the late 16th or early 17th century. The text appears to be a formal communication, possibly a petition or a report, given the use of words like 'pater' and 'mater' in the lower sections.

Handwritten text at the bottom of the page, continuing the cursive script. It includes a signature and possibly a date or location. The text is partially obscured by a small white mark.

