

Handwritten text, likely a list or entries, with some lines crossed out. Includes words like "Clemens" and "Clement".

Main body of handwritten text, appearing to be a detailed list or account with multiple lines of entries.

A summary line of text, possibly "Total" or "Summa", located at the bottom of the main text block.

Three horizontal lines, likely a decorative flourish or separator.

Marginal note on the left side, partially legible as "non Gule" and "porcage".

Vertical marginal note on the left side, possibly containing a list or index.

